Of Considerable Importance to You

DURING the past few years the love for gardening in America has grown by leaps and bounds. American gardeners, instead of being satisfied with the standard kinds of bulbs offered, are also asking for recently introduced varieties of which only a limited amount of bulbs are available. We, therefore, ask you kindly to assist us in our efforts to serve and give the best by ordering these rarer favorites not later than July 15th. Orders received on or before that date are in ample time to be sent to Holland.

All varieties of bulbs and plants offered in this catalog indicated by a star (*), are carried in stock and are available throughout the entire season in the finest quality. It is the lesser known or more expensive sorts we urge you to order at once, if possible, and not later than July 15th.

See inside of back cover, telling you how to order.

Wayside Gardens Plant Food

A New Plant Food Which Does Not Burn

To be Used When Planting
Bulbs This Fall

THIS new Plant Food has been made from slowly disintegrating organic materials, giving the same results that are obtained from rotted manure. It has been developed by ourselves to fill that great need felt by so many gardeners for whom it is practically impossible to obtain or handle rotted manure. Wayside Gardens Plant Food may be used in the most "reckless" manner without any danger of "burning." It may come in contact with bulbs or the foliage of plants without doing damage. It should be applied at the rate of 50 pounds for 500 square feet, when planting bulbs or plants, mixing it with the soil is advisable. If this is not possible, it may be used as a top dressing. It lasts for more than a year. It does not contain any filler (is all pure plant food). Because of these unusually fine points, this new product received a warm welcome from many experienced gardeners and superintendents of large estates, who know what they want and because of the heavy demands, we are able to reduce our price from $125.00 to $90.00 per ton.

Anemone

(Half-Hardy—Must Have Protection)

These popular flowers of French origin are exceedingly useful as a decorative plant for house or garden, and fine for cutting. If planted outdoors in the Fall they must be well protected with leaves or other litter; they may also be planted in the Spring in well drained soil, and will flower during the summer, starting in May.

Brodiaeas

(Hardy—Give Light Protection)

These plants have a small bulb, producing grassy leaves near the ground, and very slender, but stiff, naked stems bearing a head of waxy flowers of great lasting quality. All are pretty. Their culture is the same as for Narcissi, and just as easy as for that flower. They are easily naturalized in almost any soil. Plant them about 3 inches deep, and leave them alone. They are especially happy under oak and deciduous trees, in crevices in rocks, or in rough, gritty soils.

Calla

(Tender—Indoors Only)

These like a stiff, clayey soil. Bulbs should be set with the crown, or top, protruding just above the surface. When in growing condition, warm water given several times during the week will hasten the flowering period and increase the number of blooms. Plant but one in a pot. We call especial attention to the Yellow Calla, which is one of the grandest varieties in cultivation, and most valuable for house or conservatory decoration. See the description below. Plant Callas indoors in the Fall of the year; outdoors in April.

Calochortus

(MARIPOSA OR BUTTERFLY TULIPS)

(Hardy)

Until one has seen a good collection of these plants, he has no idea how much Nature can do in the variation of one flower. All Mariposas are forms of Calochortus, yet there are several strains, all with the slender grace of stem belonging to the species. Cup-shaped flowers, one to many on a stem, wonderfully marked with eyes and dots and pencillings in rich colors, are characteristics. Yet each strain carries out the plan on a color scheme of its own, and then can be compared only with the orchids in wonderful variability of beauty. "Mariposa" is simply the Spanish word for butterfly, and is applied to these Tulips because the eyes and markings of the flowers are so much like those on a butterfly's wings. The bulbs are small and should be planted about 2½ inches deep and covered during Winter.

Camassia

(Hardy)

There are few bulbous plants that meet climatic or soil conditions better or give a more attractive bloom. They are hardy without protection, and thrive either under ordinary garden conditions or when naturalized in open, moist woods or in not too dense a grassy growth. The flower stems are 4 feet high with as many as a hundred star-shaped flowers measuring 1½ inches across and flowering in long succession. September delivery.

They bloom at the time of the Crocuses, producing dwarf flower spikes, bearing from 12 to 15 flowers of a sky-blue with a pure white heart, creating a lovely effect. They should be planted in the Fall, 3 inches deep, about 18 bulbs to a square foot, in a sunny location or in half shade and in places where they can remain undisturbed for a number of years. Colchicum - Meadow Saffron

(Hardy)

A group of Autumn-flowering bulbs with large, crocus-like blossoms appearing after the foliage has died down. They are strongly recommended for planting in grass, where their bold, delightfully chequered flowers are seen to the best advantage, and producing a succession of beautiful crocus-like flowers, literally carpeting the ground. Among the most beautiful of woodland flowers and are equally at home in lawn or rock garden, where they keep up a succession of flowers from September till November; i. e., at a season when outdoor flowers are scarce.

Crocus Vernus

(DUTCH CROCUS)

(HARDY)

There are many things for which you may envy a man and among the greatest of them is the joy he experienced the first Spring after he has made his first planting of Crocus. The finding of those Crocus in bloom is one of the genuine delights of life. Though we may eventually plant them by the thousands, or may have been so long at gardening that little surprises us, yet that first Crocus is a great event. And we suggest that in every garden, no matter how large or how small, there be some definite Crocus corner which we can watch during those early days of March.

Crocus

AUTUMN AND SPRING FLOWERING SPECIES

Besides the Dutch Crocuses there are certain species that bloom very much earlier in the year, often before the snow has gone. The flowers of these wild sorts are smaller than those of the Dutch kinds, but they are as vigorous and free as the others. Given a sunny position in the rock garden, or a sheltered position in grass where the sun may encourage them freely, they will surprise you by their hardy appearance in the face of cold and storms.

Crocus Imperati, pale lilac with a buff jacket, often flowers in late February, and is closely followed by Crocus Siberi, a fuller, purer mauve sort; it has as a companion the deep rich yellow Crocus Susianus, which is even more attractive in the bud stage with its dark, rich, brown flowers on the exterior of the segments. Once planted they will take care of themselves for many years. Then comes Crocus Tommasinianus, an exquisite vaselike form, in color varying from a pale mauve to quite a rich purple. This variation is one of its great attractions. These all increase as freely as do the Dutch varieties.

Eremurus - Foxtail Lily; Giant Asphodels

These astonishing plants are just beginning to find their way into American gardens. They come from India, Persia and Central Africa, and are among the noblest of bulbous plants. A well grown clump of Eremuri may justly be regarded as an achievement to be proud of. The great flower stalk, eight feet tall and more, rises from a crowded tuft of long, narrow leaves, and is covered by a flower spike two or three feet long, composed of closely set, bell-shaped flowers, in colors of rose, yellow, white and coppery pink. When flowering is over, the foliage disappears entirely, but reappears very early in the Spring, when it is advisable to protect the young flower spike from late frosts. To fill the great bare space left when the plant goes to rest, Asters may be planted near it. In Winter a mulch of straw over the crown is a safeguard. These plants enjoy a rich soil, and a well drained, sunny situation. Plant about 5 to 6 inches deep.

Erythronium - Dog's-tooth Violet

(Hardy)

These are charming woodland plants, producing in early April, small, lily-like flowers of which the colors run in delicate tints of white, pink, cream, bright yellow and rose. They thrive in shaded corners or crevices of rock work. Their beauty is enhanced by their richly mottled leaves. They like a light, rather moist, but well drained soil. Plant the corms about three inches deep.

Hyemalis (Winter Aconite). These produce at about the same time that the Crocuses are in bloom, little yellow flowers like Buttercups about three inches above the ground, with settings of fine green, frilled collars which never seem to mind the worst of weather conditions. Will thrive under trees where few other plants can hold their own. They seed themselves freely and colonies from self-sown seed are soon formed. PLEASE NOTE!

The bulbs of Eranthis Hyemalis are black and no larger than the ordinary garden pea. Not a very inspiring bulb to look at, but bulbs just the same. If you will plant them as instructed and in close groups you will be well pleased with their very early golden yellow blossoms.

Freesia

(Tender—Indoors Only)

This is one of the most beautiful of all Cape bulbs, possessing a peculiar grace of form, and its fragrance is most delightful, one pot of a dozen bulbs being sufficient to perfume a whole house.

When planting Freesia bulbs in pots or pans, they may be spaced 2 inches apart and must be staked as they grow; if planted in benches they may be set 4 inches in rows 2 inches apart.

To produce the finest flowers they should be grown cool; a day temperature of 60 degrees and night temperature of 45 to 50 degrees is best; they like plenty of water at all times.

Fritillaria - Mission Bells

(Hardy)

Fritillarias are bulbous plants of the woodlands. The stems are leafy and most graceful, with many pendent, bell-like flowers. One species found in Southern California is called "Mission Bells," while in other places local species are called Brown or Chocolate Lilies.

In the West there are two types: The true Mission Bells do better in a clay soil in full sun. The woodland Fritillarias like woodland soils and conditions, and in cultivation some shade and a free soil. They have proved hardy as far north as Wisconsin. This is hardly a matter for surprise, as F. lanceolata is a southern form of F. kamschatcensis which is found in Alaska and crosses into Siberia.

Owing to scarcity of bulbs, it is suggested that orders be placed at once.

Galanthus Nivalis.

Galanthus - Snowdrops (Hardy)

These are particularly effective under hedges, under cedar trees and in thin woodland. They are the first to open in the Spring and are very lovely. They dislike being moved and should be left alone to naturalize themselves. Plant two inches deep; mulch in Winter with straw, hay, leaves or well-decayed manure. The single-flowering Snowdrops, if they are left alone, soon take to producing double flowers. The differences and variations in the varieties of Snowdrops are so comparatively small that it does not seem worth while to offer them in variety.

Hyacinths

Give the Hyacinth its Due

No one would have expected that our old Mother Earth contained such entrancing fragrance had not Hyacinths, by some miracle of alchemy, revealed it to us.

Here, too, we have it combined with the widest possible range of color, and even with flowers of the truest blue—in every shade—the very rarest combination.

They open to greet us before the new Spring dawns, if we but give them a share of our garden, and pour out their incense as if in token of their gratitude and thanks for their deliverance from a long imprisonment.

Of importance to us all is the greatly reduced price of Hyacinths. We hope you will take advantage of the opportunity by planting them freely.

Do not attempt the old mid-Victorian methods of round Hyacinth beds in the lawn, but plant them in clusters of six or more in the border in front of shrubs or evergreens, thereby enjoying their brilliant colors and fragrance three or four weeks before the Darwin Tulips come into bloom.

Select Exhibition Size

These are varieties selected for their large sized spikes, elegance of form, and beauty and richness of color. The bulbs are of mammoth size—the cream of the crop. Exhibition Hyacinth bulbs are unsurpassed for growing in pots or in Hyacinth glasses—if this is preferred to pot culture.

PRICE, ALL BULBS AS LISTED BELOW EXCEPT YELLOW:

Hyacinths.

Hyacinths for Garden Planting

Hyacinths are available in different sizes. This difference in size does not in the least effect the quality of the bulbs. The large exhibition bulbs should be used for indoor growing or forcing. These bulbs measure about 19 centimeters in circumference. For garden planting it is better to use bulbs a little smaller—say about 17 centimeters. These do not cost quite as much but give equally good results. Below we offer the best varieties for garden use.

French Roman Hyacinths

The flowers are delightfully fragrant and each bulb will throw up from three to five spikes. For forcing four bulbs are generally planted in a 5-inch pan. Because of their early flowering and ease of growth, they are successfully grown in bowls with pebbles in the same manner as Paper-White Narcissi. Flowers may be had from December until March if plantings are made in succession.

Dutch Iris - The New Iris Hollandia

(Hardy—Give Slight Protection)

This distinct group is of recent origin and has in a few years won international recognition. The flowers are not only superior in substance, brilliancy and purity of color, but also earlier, larger and of greater refinement than the old Spanish Iris.

These Iris are unsurpassed as cut flowers, as they will stand any amount of handling.

Their hardiness and large color range have made them very popular for garden purposes, and though in extreme climates they need some protection, they do quite well as far north as New York. The varieties we list have been carefully selected to give the full range of colors.

Lilies

Lilium Speciosum Magnificum.

Varieties for the Garden

There is a notion that Lilies are "hard to grow." Some of the rarer species are, it is true; they do not only stubbornly refuse to make themselves at home in the garden, unless conditions are precisely to their liking, but some of them cannot endure the northern Winter without the necessary covering of litter, which many other tender plants require. Unless one goes in for Lilies to the extent of making a hobby of them, however, these can all be left to the collector and there will be quite enough species remaining to give one a Lily season in the three months duration of which loveliness follows loveliness with breaks of only relatively brief length. We say species for the reason that the Lilies in cultivation show an exceptionally low percentage of horticultural varieties. Possibly because Nature made every species perfect to begin with, the hand of the hybridizer has been loath to endeavor to "paint the Lily," as it were.

DELIVERY—This depends upon the arrival of the bulbs from our foreign sources. Many get here too late for Autumn planting, thus necessitating carrying over the bulbs until Spring. Most of the varieties listed will arrive in time for Fall planting. Those that don't, we will carry over and deliver in the Spring in perfect condition.

Lilies

All Lilies have been priced per each; per dozen and per hundred. Three bulbs of one variety may be purchased at the dozen rate; twenty-five bulbs at the hundred rate.

Lilies are imported from China, Japan, Russia, and other European countries; some are native of America.

Delivery of bulbs ordered will, therefore, depend on when they are received by us, and best time to plant. Simply order the bulbs you would like to have and we will see to it that they are sent at the best time for planting in your garden.

Lilium Candidum—Madonna Lily.

Lilium Candidum (Madonna Lily)

Be very careful that you plant the right type of this beautiful Lily in your garden. There is an early-flowering variety which is grown in the south of France. These should not be used in America; if planted in the garden, they are prone to disease and are unsatisfactory. In Europe this type is called L. candidum speciosum. This variety is only too often sold because they cost less.

The true type to use for the garden is the L. candidum from the north of France; is easily recognized by its white, fleshy scales, by those that know both types.

Plant in loam or sandy soil, in an open, fully exposed place, surrounding the bulb with sharp sand and placing it somewhat on its side. After it has become fully established leave it alone as it much resents disturbance at the roots. If necessary to transplant, do so as soon as the flower stems die down.

Lily-of-the-Valley

For forcing, the pips are to be preferred, being grown under conditions tending to promote vigorous and early blooming. Twelve to eighteen pips may be planted in a 6-inch pot, with all the fibrous roots carefully preserved, and keeping the crowns above the soil. Place them in a temperature of about 80 degrees, cover the crowns with loose moss and keep them constantly moist with tepid water.

Berlin Pips. The earliest, largest and best for forcing. Extra strong pips with long roots producing flowers with 15 to 20 bells and fine foliage. $1.00 per 12; $7.00 per 100; $17.50 per 250; $65.00 per 1000. Ready in December for indoor forcing.

Field Grown Clumps. We recommend fall planting of Lily-of-the-Valley for outdoor culture and can supply exceptionally vigorous, field grown clumps at $2.00 per 3; $6.00 per 12; $50.00 per 100.

Fortin Pips. Imported roots for outdoor planting; late Fall or early Spring. $1.00 per 12; $5.00 per 100.

Lily-of-the-Valley are usually badly neglected in the garden; after flowering feed them bone meal liberally and you will have wonderful results.

Muscari - Grape Hyacinths

(Hardy)

These lovely Spring flowers, with their dainty spikes of bell-shaped flowers, require no special culture or soil. Naturalized on rockwork and grassy banks they look very beautiful, while as edgings and massed in the flower border they are most charming, and continue a long time in bloom. Height 4 to 6 inches. The Moschatum varieties like a rather richer soil than the other species.

Mertensia Virginia

(BLUE BELLS)

(Hardy)

This is indispensable in the garden for color effect; flowers are porcelain blue turning pink with age. The plant grows from one to two feet high, bearing a panicle of flowers about one inch long in short pendent clusters. It is splendid for the open border or for naturalizing along the woodland path, in the dell, along the brook or pond; it flowers from the time Daffodils are in bloom, continuing while the May-flowering Tulips are at their best. We urge all garden lovers to use this delightful plant in quantities as it is permanent and so helpful to create beautiful pictures.

Extra heavy roots for immediate effect, 75c per 3; $2.00 per 12; $15.00 per 100; $125.00 per 1000.

Miniature Daffodils for the Rock Garden

The following are charming little subjects for rock work, where their dainty flowers are seen to perfection. They should be left undisturbed for years, and if happy will soon establish themselves and afford a lovely picture in early Spring. All the Bulbocodium (except Monophyllus), and the Cyclamineus, like moisture, and should, therefore, be planted at the foot of the rockery. Bulbocodium monophyllus flourishes in a warm, dry sheltered situation planted in almost pure sand; when coming into bloom give water freely. Triandrus albus (Angel's Tears) and Juncifolius delight in partial shade and a light gritty soil, and should be given a well drained position.

Our stock of these varieties is very limited and we offer them only for as long as unsold. Per 12

* Bulbocodium citrinus (Large Sulphur Hoop Petticoat). Very beautiful pale citron-yellow. Height 6 to 8 inches	$5.00
* Bulbocodium conspicuus (Yellow Hoop Petticoat). Flowers rich golden yellow, of hoop-petticoat form and rushlike foliage. Height 6 inches	5.00
* Jonquilla, Simplex . The true tiny single Jonquil. The bulbs as well as the flowers of this miniature Daffodil are not very much larger than the Snow-drop. The flowers are a pure golden yellow and delightfully fragrant; foliage is grasslike. Perfectly hardy and most satisfactory small Daffodil for the rock garden. Plant in little clusters of 10 or 15 bulbs	2.50
* Jonquilla flore pleno . This is the charming double-flowered form of the above. Also splendid in the rockery	3.00
* Triandrus albus . An exquisite beautiful little species, it is of slender growth and produces a cluster of elegant creamy white little flowers with globular cup and perianth reflexing as in the Cyclamen. Height 7 inches	4.75

Scilla WOOD HYACINTHS OR BLUE BELLS (May-Flowering—Hardy)

The English Blue Bell (Scilla nutans), with its long pendent bells, abounds in many gardens. The fine Spanish varieties (S. hispanica) have erect flower-spikes and open campanulate flowers. All are very effective in flower and shrubbery borders, and most valuable for wild gardens and woodlands, where they should be largely naturalized. Wood Hyacinths may be planted in bare shady places, and odd corners which often have a desert-like appearance which can thus be rendered bright and cheerful. They will also thrive under Fir and Pine trees, where few other plants will grow. Plant September to November, 6 inches deep, to obtain fine flower spikes.

	Bulbs	Bulbs
*Lutea major. A large-flowered form of the Lily of the field; a very effective Autumn-flowering bulbous plant producing large, handsome crocus-like flowers of a rich golden yellow. The bulbs make a charming decoration if planted in bowls or pots and flower a few weeks after planting. Out-of-doors the Sternbergia likes a warm, well drained situation on banks or borders, where it should be left undisturbed for years. The bulbs should be planted 9 inches deep, and in cold districts a covering of dry litter should be given in Winter. Fine for the rock garden	$3.00	$25.00

Trilliums (Hardy)

Trilliums are very attractive plants of the Lily family. The forms known as Wood Lilies or Wake Robins are well known in the East and are fine woodland plants. Of these, the best is T. grandiflorum.

A better plant for the shaded corner, damp woodland, border of streams, where the soil is moist, or for the shaded parts of the garden, does not grow. It takes a year for them to take hold, but they will then improve for years. There is no better bulbous plant to naturalize to perfection in gravel, loam, sand and heavy clay, and in each case, with no care whatever.

Scilla Nutons—English Blue Bells.

Scilla Sibirica.

Scillas - Squills

(March and April Flowering—Hardy)

The rich dark blue of Scilla bifolia and the bright blue of Scilla sibirica in early Spring render them invaluable for edgings or for massing in flower beds and borders. As they bloom so early in the year, it is advisable to give them a sunny situation.

They are not particular about the soil in which they grow. They are ideal for the wild garden but they are not to be despised in the border, especially if they are left alone for two or three years without being disturbed in any way. They are splendid in the rock garden. Never plant less than 12 or 18 bulbs in a clump.

Low Tulip Prices

THERE is an over-production of Holland Tulip bulbs.

It means some surprisingly fine varieties are available at remarkable prices.

Louis XIV, the aristocrat of Tulips, as well as popular favorites, such as Clara Butt, Pride of Haarlem, Rev. H. Ewbank, and many others, are priced so low you can afford to buy in hundreds instead of by the dozen.

The truth of the matter is all these prices are lower than before the war. Take Hyacinths, for instance; exhibition size bulbs may now be had for about half the price paid last year.

It just does look as if it would be many a long day before such an opportunity would happen again. We recommend that you stock up on bulbs this year! Plant them in goodly numbers, replace old bulbs that have been in the garden for a number of years, with newly imported stock. NOW is the time to do it.

A Popular Assortment of Tulips for 1931

The collection of Tulips we have offered for many years under this heading has always stood out conspicuously because of the unusually fine varieties our Dutch growers made available for us. This year they have given us a still greater concession than usual. You will notice that Darwin Tulip, White Emperor, is included in the list. This new pure white Darwin is not offered anywhere in this country at a price so that everyone can have it. In addition, the lovely Lily-flowered Tulip Sirene is added and also the two great favorites, Breeder Tulip Prince of Orange and Louis XIV. The last we may say is world famous and the most beautiful Tulip known. If you are not familiar with varieties of Tulips, may we suggest you order this collection. We are sure you cannot do better or nearly as well anywhere else. By ordering early you will do us a favor.

Darwin Tulips

The Darwin Tulips were developed in the north of France, supposedly from choice varieties of Bybloem Tulips. Owing to the unusual clearness of the colors, to the substance of the petals, and to their vigorous growth, these seedlings, when they came into the hands of the prominent Dutch firms, seemed worthy of forming a new class of Tulips. In 1889 they were named in honor of Darwin, and offered for sale. They remained little known for a number of years but with renewed interest in the Tulip, which sprang up in England at the beginning of the present decade, they commenced to receive attention. In America the Darwins are now widely appreciated, and their popularity here promises to exceed the favor they have enjoyed so long in Europe.

The colors include the brilliant scarlets and crimsons, and the more somber tones of red. The shades of rose and pink, of violet, and purple are unsurpassed for their delicacy or their richness of color. There are slate blue and blue-violets which might almost be called blue, while Dumas' "Black Tulip" is very nearly realized in some of the dark maroon varieties. There are no yellows. All the bronze and buff tones are Breeders; while bright yellow and orange-scarlet must be sought among the Cottage Tulips. The Darwins may be left undisturbed for years, but it must be kept in mind that Tulips are not long lived in our soil and climate, but if taken care of, we have known them to last many years. The collection offered in this catalog is made up from the best varieties offered for sale in Holland.

The Tulips of the Future

Dutch Hybridists are always working to improve Bulbs, and especially upon Tulips. It is more than likely that our grandchildren will not plant the varieties that are now popular and are giving us so much pleasure. New races of Tulips are developing and improvement in the existing races is going on steadily. New varieties will ultimately replace the entire list of Tulips with which you are now familiar. It probably will be years before prices are such that you will want to buy one hundred or more of these improved Tulips, but we cannot resist offering on these two pages, some of the newest varieties that have been introduced by our grower and which are acclaimed all over Europe and praised by those who have seen them. Their colors are gorgeous and the substance of these new Tulips is unsurpassed. Perhaps, you would like to try one or two of these new sorts and we, therefore, take great pleasure in offering this select list.

Breeder Tulips

The Breeder Tulips have been favorites in Holland for centuries, but it is only within recent years that they have become known and appreciated in America, and now they bid fair to rival the Darwin Tulips in popularity.

Their majestic size and remarkable colors place them distinctly in a class by themselves. Every lover of the more somber shades cannot fail to revel in the rich and artistic blendings of purple and old gold, bronze and terra cotta, brown and violet, and buff and maroon found among the Breeders. They are late to bloom but surpass in size and vigor the Darwins, although lacking the color brilliancy of the latter. The flowers are, many of them, sweet scented, and all splendid for cutting.

Cottage Tulips

Hybrid Cottage and Triumph Tulips

The Cottage Tulips come into bloom in early May, after the Early Single varieties have passed. They are hardy and robust, with long, slender, but very stiff stems. The flowers are mostly long and oval, many of them with the petals gracefully reflexed. The Cottage Tulips as a class are rich in the more delicate and artistic shades of yellow, orange, and fawn with salmon, old rose and amber. They are the best of all Tulips for cutting and they develop best when planted outdoors, including the earlier kinds.

Parrot Tulips

We urge you to grow some of these quaintly shaped flowers particularly for house decoration. The artistic forms and colorings make them especially suitable for cut flower purposes; in the garden, if planted in borders or groups, they are not always satisfactory, as they lack the vigorous, straight stems of the other Tulips with the exception of one variety, the beautiful novelty "Fantasy" which has as straight and tall a stem as a Darwin Tulip. All Parrot Tulips are extremely effective planted in long drifts in front of evergreens.

Botanical Tulips and Wild Species

For the Rock Garden and Hardy Plant Border

The general characteristics of the various species, all of which are natives of Asia Minor and Central Asia, are bright colors and recurved petals. These Tulips do not always feel happy in their new surroundings and after two, or possibly three, seasons they will disappear. With care and the provision of suitable quarters they will flower quite satisfactorily. They feel best contented in rock gardens and borders.

Rembrandt Tulips

When the coloring matter of a "self color" has become split up into stripes and blotches, that particular flower is called "broken" or "rectified." When the Darwin Tulips "break" into these variations, they are called "Rembrandt" Tulips. They are very decorative but should be planted by themselves. They require the same cultural treatment as the other May-flowering Tulips, blooming during the month of May in our latitude, and about a month earlier in far southern sections.

Single Early Tulips

Including the Best of the Recent Introductions

They are the best fitted of all Tulips for forcing, and, if not grown too cool, some very early varieties may be had in flower by the end of December. When used for bedding, it is far better that new bulbs be secured each year, for the old bulbs will not do well the second season unless they have been allowed to mature and the foliage to die down before being removed from the beds. Even with the best care, it is uncertain whether the bulbs will again bloom successfully during the second season.

In the following list the handsomest sorts alone are represented, while many of the better known varieties are omitted because they are surpassed by the newer kinds. Detailed planting directions are included with the invoice.

PLANTING. The table below shows the number of plants or bulbs required to fill a circular bed of the dimensions given. In planting, begin at outside row—where 6 inches apart, 3 inches from edge of bed; where 12 inches apart, 6 inches from edge of bed. It is customary among professionals in planting a bed to set the plants or bulbs somewhat closer together in the two outer rows, giving more space between each plant or bulb toward the center of the bed.

A square bed will take about the same number of plants. For an oval bed, add length and breadth and divide by two. For example, an oval 9 feet long by 7 feet wide will require the same number of plants as a circular bed 8 feet in diameter.

Double Tulips

The double varieties cannot be forced so early or readily as the singles. One of the earliest, Salvator Rosa, may be had by the middle of January, while all other varieties may be flowered from January to March. The flowers are large and brilliant and are effective in beds or groups. If grown in pots, do not attempt flowering before they are well rooted.

Iris Germanica (German or Flag Iris)

The Iris is one of the finest, if not the finest, of our hardy plants. Not particular as to soil or location, but asking only that the sun shine on it. It throws up spikes of bloom that are marvelous in their delicacy of structure and the colorings which are exquisitely dainty are wonderful in their blendings and variety.

Hardy Plant and Alpine Plant Seeds

Gathered at Wayside Gardens

Several years of experience and the observing of results has proven to us beyond a doubt that seeds of Hardy Plants and Rock Plants produced under the more favorable American climatic conditions germinate better and are superior in every way over imported seeds. This fact has been so forcefully brought home to us that wherever possible we harvest our own seeds at Wayside Gardens for the propagation of our stocks. The great variety of plants grown by us (we can say without boasting that our collection of plants is the greatest ever brought together in one nursery in America) makes it possible for us to also offer a most complete collection of all American grown seeds of Hardy Plants and Rock Plants.

Several more varieties could be added to the list presented here, but we have omitted them because they are too difficult to handle for the amateur. The selection offered should give no great trouble to anyone who will be careful, but we cannot and do not give any guarantee as to results, knowing only too well that it requires more time, patience and care to raise hardy plants and rock plants from seeds than a great many people are willing to give. If, however, it is proven that failure is due to the seeds, we will replace them with others, without charge.

Many seeds offered are not only rare but scarce, therefore, send your order early. Only Wayside Gardens seeds are offered under this heading.

Hardy Plants and Alpine Plant Seeds from the Floraire Nurseries, Imported to Order Only

When, a few years ago, Mr. H. Correvon of the Floraire Nurseries visited this country on a lecture tour, we had the pleasure of having Mr. Correvon with us. Arrangements were made whereby we were to act as his representatives for the U. S. A. and Canada, and to offer his seeds through the medium of our plant catalog. A special list offering Correvon seeds will be mailed upon request. Inasmuch as no Correvon seeds are carried in stock by us we urge you to write for this list at once so that there will be ample time to write for those things you desire.

Peonies at Special Prices!

Just as we were completing our bulb catalog, one of our very good wholesale customers came to us with the request that we dispose of his list of popular commercial Peonies, at a low price so that he might be able to replant his acreage with the newer and rarer kinds.

The plants offered here were originally furnished him by us a number of years ago. The stocks are clean, true to name and healthy. We shall do the digging, dividing and packing; and we guarantee all plants to be true to name, up to standard size of three to five eyes. They will be shipped early in September or any time convenient to the buyer, and are offered for as long as unsold. All orders will be filled strictly in rotation.

Here is a splendid opportunity of getting some excellent high grade Peonies at a rare bargain price. Remember we guarantee them to be of the best quality and fully up to size.

HOW TO ORDER

SEND ORDERS EARLY

To be more certain of getting all varieties wanted. Late orders coming during the close of the season are often difficult to fill with varieties asked for.

SAFE ARRIVAL OF BULBS IS GUARANTEED

To any point within the United States and Canada. Delivery will be made early in autumn or at proper time for planting.

GUARANTEES

We guarantee all stock furnished by us to be first class and true to name, of a size so as to give immediate results, and will replace anything, no matter what, that does not arrive in good condition, entirely at our expense. There are several causes, of course, for failure over which we have no control, therefore, it is evident and reasonable that we cannot assume responsibility after stock is delivered. Poor soil, unfavorable weather, ignorant or careless culture—all contribute to failure and are beyond our control.

CLAIMS FOR SHORTAGE

Are best made immediately upon receipt of goods.

QUANTITIES ORDERED

We do not sell less than six bulbs of a kind, unless offered otherwise. Twenty-five or more bulbs of one kind are charged at the hundred rate; six bulbs of one kind are charged at the dozen rate.

REMITTANCES

These should be made by check, bank draft, post office order or express money order. Please write the amount remitted upon the order. Your remittance and your order will be acknowledged at once when received.

TERMS OF PAYMENT

We shall be very glad to open charge accounts when desired; in this case please send bank or trade references with your order. All charge accounts are due the first day of the month following date of purchase. We do not like to send bulbs or other perishable goods collect on delivery, and do so only at your risk.

The following may sound boastful, but is true nevertheless. There is no other firm in America with finer and closer relations in Holland and better able to serve you. Color illustrations, while not perfect, have been made as carefully and as nearly correct as present printing methods permit, in an effort to help you with your selections.

Should any of our customers be making a trip to Europe, we shall be very glad to give them a letter of introduction to the finest and largest bulb growers in Holland.

For convenience of our customers we have prepared five booklets entitled as follows:

"Cultural Instructions for Roses,"

"Cultural Instructions for Peonies and Iris."

"Cultural Instructions for Lilies."

"Cultural Instructions for Spring-flowering Garden Bulbs."

"Rock Garden Construction."

These booklets may be had for twenty-five cents each. You will find them extremely helpful. They are fully illustrated and full of facts, precisely, as well as concisely, given. The Rock Garden Construction booklet is especially very much in demand and seems to fill a great need.

Garden Clubs desiring lectures or lessons in the growing and care of hardy plants, rock plants or bulbs, kindly communicate with us for detailed information.
